SHIP HOLIDAY THROWS MANY OUT OF WORK

Several Thousand Workmen in Navy Yards Temporarily Laid Off by New Order

FRANCE DEFENDED

Inadmissible to Represent Her as Champion of Submarine, Admiral de Bon Says

(By the Associated Press.)

Washington, Feb. 9. — The first effects of the arms conference on the employment situation were felt today when several thousand mechanics and artificers in navy yards were temporarily laid off after Secretary Denby had ordered suspended all ordnance work designed for the naval vessels slated for "scrapping" under the naval limitation treaty. The instructions were issued in line with President Harding's order of yesterday suspending work on the vessels under construction affected by the treaty. The navy yards affected are those at Washington, New York, Philadelphia, Norfolk, Mare Island, Calif., and possibly Boston. The ordnance plant at South Charlestown, W. Va., was also affected similarly.

While these instructions were being sent out, President Harding was receiving the report of the American arms delegation, together with the treaties growing out of the conference. After receiving these documents from Secretary Hughes, the President had the four delegates as luncheon guests at the White House. The President has not decided whether he will deliver to the senate the treaties in person, it was said later.

Earlier in the day, the President received the farewells of the last of the arms delegations, seeing in turn Admiral Baron Kato and Vice Foreign Minister Hanihara, of the Japanese delegation; Jonkheer Beelaerts Van Bloyland and Jonkheer W. H. Beaufort, of the Netherlands; Albert Sarraut of France, and the three Chinese delegates, Wellington Koo, minister to London; Chief Justice Wang, of the Chinese supreme court, and Minister Sze, Chinese envoy to Washington.

Secretary Denby's suspension order was made public today after 1,500 of the 7,000 employes of the Washington navy yard upon reporting for work were given "temporary furloughs" without pay. Most of them were machinists.

De Bon Denounces "Legends."

New York, Feb. 9.—It is time "that the legends which have been published on the intentions of France during the last three months were wiped off for good," Admiral de Bon, French delegate to the armament conference, today told the American Committee for devastated France.

By the naval treaty, he said, France limits herself to one-sixth her normal sea power, while other countries reduce "about one-third of the extraordinary power they gained by the race of armaments to which they have applied themselves during recent years." Including colonial possessions, France has longer coast lines to protect than the United States, he added, in defending the French position regarding submarines.

Admiral de Bon said it was inadmissable to represent France as being the champion of the submarine. He termed it a supreme insult that "someone dared to pretend that France had war-like ideas susceptible of being directed against her allies of yesterday, England, and even America, who were her comrades-at-arms.

"It was not France who voted against the abolition of the submarine at the Washington conference," he said. "It was all the nations present except Great Britain—all other nations, including the United States, found themselves of the same opinion in deciding that it was practically impossible to do away altogether with the submarine."

Redfield Approves Conference.

New York, Feb. 9. — Asserting that the "results of the arms conference call not for criticism or cynicism, but for frank approval," William C. Redfield, secretary of commerce under President Wilson, in an address before the National Institute of Social Sciences tonight, declared that "sooner or later this country will enter upon the permanent league already in existence."

"When President Wilson returned from Versailles, he told his cabinet that Japan promised to surrender Shantung, and that he believed Japan would keep faith," Mr. Redfield said. "Japan has met Mr. Wilson's expectations. China is placed in a better position than she has ever occupied before. A definite standard has been reached in regard to the naval forces of the world.

"The United States ought not to be absent from further international or economic conferences."

Thousand Men Face Lay-Off.

Quincy, Mass., Feb. 9. — The Fore River plans of the Bethlehem Shipbuilding corporation announced today that 1,000 men would be laid off today and tomorrow because of orders to discontinue construction of the battle cruiser Lexington received from Secretary of the Navy Denby. Officials said that unless unexpected contracts appeared the plant would be closed down in the fall upon completion of its present program.

ITALIANS OPPOSED DELAYING CONCLAVE

But Two-Thirds of Foreign Cardinals Favored American Participation, It Is Learned

(By The Associated Press.)

Rome, Feb. 9. — Two-thirds of the foreign cardinals and a small fraction of the Italians favored American participation in the conclave which elected Pope Pius XI. Against the proposal to delay the election were almost all the Italian cardinals, led by the Camerlingo, Cardinal Gasparri.

It was learned that the Austrian cardinal Piffi, archbishop of Vienna, and Cardinal Csernach, primate of Hungary, made a determined stand in the conclave that the final choice for the papal crown should not be made until at least one American was present.

"America is a vital part of the church," Cardinal Csernoch said to the members of the Sacred College. "It will be calamitous to deny her participation in the election of the pontiff. It will have a grave reaction among the American people; it will wound their pride and dignity. I ask the conclave to weigh well the consequences of its act before casting this vote."

Cardinal Piffi was even more determined at the conclave. "Yes, it may be true," he said in answer to one of his Italian colleages, "that prolongation would not be in strict conformance with the constitution. But can the Sacred College risk offending America for the sake of a technicality? I say it cannot."

Cardinals Lucon, Duboise, Andrieu and Maurin called on the papal secretary of state to submit, with Cardinal Lucon as spokesman, the request that the papal constitution be amended fixing the date for the convening of a conclave at an indefinite period after the death of the pope to permit the United States, Canada and South America to participate.

INDIANS HAVE TITLE TO BIG LAND TRACT

Approximately Six Million Acres in Western New York Comprise Old Reservations

Albany, Feb. 9.—Findings by Assemblymen Edward A. Everett, of St. Lawrence, chairman of the New York State Indian commission, which hold that the six nations of Indians residing within New York state have title to lands estimated at 6 million acres and valued at approximately $2,500,000,000, are being mailed to tribal chiefs throughout the state. This was made known tonight by Assemblyman Everett, who declared that he feared his report will not be signed by a majority of the members of the commission.

"In a skeleton of my report which I have just mailed," said Mr. Everett, "I hold that the Indians have title to all lands of the state that constituted the reservations ceded to them at Washington at the conclusion of the Revolutionary war.

"It is my belief that the claims of the Indians cloud the present title of lands within a line running straight south from Oswego to a point in the center of the state of Pennsylvania, west to Ohio, up the Ohio line to Lake Erie, and back to Oswego."

In a letter to the six nations, Mr. Everett suggests that the Indians formulate no claims to the land in the state until after a meeting at Albany which has been called for Friday, February 24.

CREDIT AID FOR R. R. PROPOSED

Government Officials Consider Means of Lending Assistance to the Struggling Carriers

NEED ROLLING STOCK

Sale of Federal Certificates Seen as Method of Raising Necessary Revenue

Washington, Feb. 9.— Means of lending the aid of the government's credit to the railroads of the country are under consideration in administration circles, it was indicated today by high officials. Any such plan however, it was said, would not involve the use of government money for rendering financial assistance to the carriers, but the use of federal credit.

Secretary Hoover suggested today that a government guarantee of railroad equipment trust certificates would make them attractive to investors and enable the roads to raise money for needed rolling stock without the expenditure of funds from the treasury. Secretary Mellon is also understood to regard favorably the idea of lending the government's credit to the carriers on the theory that better business conditions generally would result from improvement in the railroad situation.

If any such step should be taken, however, in the opinion of Attorney General Daugherty, legislation probably would be necessary and in this case some difficulty might be encountered in congress. The needs of the railroads for more equipment is their own difficulty, in the opinion of Secretary Hoover, who said today it was up to the railroads to take the leadership in presenting some constructive plan for providing funds. The railroads' troubles, he asserted, were "in anticipation," which made any relief measures difficult of adoption at this time. He expressed the belief that if the shortage of cars became sufficiently acute, there would be pressure from all sides to remedy the situation.

Under-equipment of railroads, he said, had its effect on the employment situation and upon agricultural conditions.

Secretary Mellon is also understood to coincide with this view.

Use of the government's credit has already been extended to the farmers, Mr. Hoover pointed out, in the guaranteeing of farm loan bonds. He indicated that some such method might be utilized to aid the railroads if the emergency should become sufficiently acute to require assistance.

JUDGE COOPER WARS ON PROFESSIONAL BONDSMEN

Utica, Feb. 9. — A ruling of Judge Frank Cooper, filed with the clerk of the court here today, is intended to sweep out of the United States district court of Northern New York all so-called professional bondsmen. The edict also stipulates that bail in cases of violation of the Volstead act shall in no case be fixed under $1,000. The minimum heretofore has been $500.

The judge's orders provide that full details of all properties put up at security in federal court must be furnished. This is intended to prevent bondsmen from using the same property as surety in several cases. Commissioners are to urge newspapers to publish the names of bondsmen.

URGES WOMEN NEGLECT HOME TO ORGANIZE WOMEN VOTERS

New York, Feb. 9. — Urging the women to neglect their homes, husbands and children if necessary, Miss Mary Garret Hay today called on members of the League of Women Voters to devote all their energies to a campaign to get 50,000 new members by February 25.

"Tell your husband to be a good sport and eat at the delicatessen store for the next few days," suggested Miss Hay, who, as chairman, presided at the league's campaign luncheon.

Mrs. Carrie Chapman Catt said Governor Miller of New York was wrong when he characterized the league as a menace.

IRISH RAIL STRIKE CALLED OFF, SETTLEMENT REACHED

Dublin, Feb. 9. — The differences between the Irish railway managements and employes, which threatened to bring about a general strike on February 15, have been arranged, and it is announced that the question has been settled.

For the past month, Ireland has been faced by a general railroad strike, the men asserting that their efforts were directed at resisting an attempt to force them back into a position of low wages, long hours and bad working conditions, such as prevailed before the war.

PAIR OF OVERALLS CAUSED A LOT OF TROUBLE IN N. Y.

New York, Feb. 9. — A pair of overalls in the back of a milk truck ignited from the backfire of the engine while the vehicle was crossing Manhattan bridge tonight. Then this happened:

Vehicular traffic was tied up for 20 minutes.

One deputy fire chief, two battalion fire chiefs, five fire engines, two fire trucks and a fire patrol company responded to an alarm turned in by a policeman.

Several hundred persons gathered and jostled each other to see what it was all about.

The damage was estimated at $1.98.

"ETHER COP" MAY SOON BE NEEDED

Congestion of the Air Caused by Wireless "Chatter" of American Small Boys

Washington, Feb. 9. — Control of wave lengths of the air may require "an ether cop" to regulate the wireless chatter of the American small boy, and other uses of radio communication. Secretary Hoover said today in discussing the government's plan for radio regulation.

At the request of President Harding, Mr. Hoover said he was calling together radio experts of the army, navy, post office and commerce departments, and radio engineers, to meet in about ten days to work out regulations governing the use of the air for radio communication. The development of the radio telephone he described as one of the most important steps in the progress of communication, but the limited number of available wave lengths, he declared, was causing congestion in the air.

The ingenuity of the American small boy in the use of radio telephones, the secretary explained, had in the past few months so filled the air with "chatter" that commercial and official communication had been interfered with, while the practice of broadcasting sermons, music and other matter through the air was hindering the more important uses of the wireless telephone.

PROFESSIONALISM IN COLLEGE SPORTS BLAMED ON BETTING

Chicago, Feb. 9.—Telling how he had turned down an offer of $1,000 to become a professional, while attending Yale on $1.16 a week, Alonzo A. Stagg, University of Chicago athletic director, in an address today, blamed betting for the inroads of professionalism in college athletics and declared that these inroads were the most demoralizing thing in the world to clean sports.

"Nothing is more demoralizing than the feeling 'How much is in it for me?'" said Mr. Stagg in addressing a city club luncheon. "There is a fundamental difference between the professional and the amateur and that difference starts at an early age."

ANDERSON WILL TRY TO FIND CANDIDATE FOR "DRY" POST

New York, Feb. 9. — William H. Anderson, state superintendent of the Anti-Saloon League of New York, today wrote State Prohibition Enforcement Director Day that, if he could learn of "any qualified person outside of the league staff respecting whom we know or can learn sufficient facts to justify confidence," he would transmit such information to Mr. Day, who had requested him to nominate someone for the job of assistant prohibition director.

Mr. Anderson asserted, however, that Mr. Day would have to make the appointment of his own responsibility.

CANADA TO BE REPRESENTED AT ECONOMIC CONFERENCE

Ottawa, Feb. 9. — Canada will be represented at the world-wide economic conference which convenes in Genoa March 8, it was announced after a cabinet meeting tonight.

Sir Charles Gordon of Montreal will be one of Canada's representatives, and Prof. Eduoard Montpetit, of the University of Montreal, has been invited by the government to associate himself with him. It is asserted Prof. Montpetit will be able to act but friends have not heard definitely whether he will be able to accept.

INCREASED PURCHASE POWER OF FARMERS HOPEFUL SIGN

New York, Feb. 9. — Increased purchasing power of farmers which has resulted from recent advances in the prices of farm products and decreases in other lines, was cited by Secretary Wallace tonight in an address before the National Retail Drygoods association as a "hopeful sign to industry in general."

Estimating that farmers and their families represented forty per cent of the population, Mr. Wallace declared every phase of business should be interested in "every sensible effort to get farming back on a sound basis."

IN DRY ONTARIO.

Toronto, Feb. 9. — An amendment to the provincial temperance act that would forbid the serving of liquor in one's home to any party of more than three guests is being sought by the Ontario branch of the Dominion Alliance.

Representatives of the alliance also want to curb home brewing, reduce the variety of liquor on sale at the dispensaries, and force people with cellar stocks to make annual inventory reports to the government.

DIST. ATTORNEY DIRECTS A NEW TAYLOR INQUIRY

Seeks to Disclose What Took Place Just Before Movie Director Was Slain

MANY QUESTIONED

Prominent Film Folk Tell Stories — New Sands Rumor Proves Unfounded

Los Angeles, Feb. 9. — A new and comprehensive investigation into the circumstances surrounding the slaying of William Desmond Taylor, noted film director, was under way here today, directed by the district attorney.

Yesterday and today, the district attorney gathered into his hand the scattered threads of evidence that had been drawn out by the police, the sheriff's office and independent investigators, and tonight he was attempting to weave them into some sort of pattern that would disclose what took place just before Taylor was killed.

One item was a package of letters written by Mabel Normand, motion picture actress, and which disappeared from Taylor's home after his death. These letters were re-discovered yesterday concealed among Taylor's effects. Their contents were not disclosed, and Miss Normand, who was in seclusion today, declined to comment on the new turn of events.

Edward F. Sands.

Witnesses questioned today included Charles Eyton, general manager of the Famous Players-Lasky studio here, at which Taylor was employed as a director. Mr. Eyton testified at the coroner's inquest that he was the first to suspect that Taylor's death had been caused by other than natural events. He said he had insisted that the body be examined for wounds, and it was his insistence, according to his statement at the inquest, that caused discovery of the fatal wound.

Mr. and Mrs. MacLean Testify.

Others summoned to the district attorney's office today and questioned included Mr. and Mrs. Douglas MacLean, whose home adjoined that of Taylor and who had given statements at the inquest and to the police. Henry Peavey, Taylor's houseman; Howard Fellows, chauffeur for Taylor, and Harry Fellows, brother of the chauffeur and an assistant director, also were questioned fully. The district attorney declined to disclose the results of these interviews.

Another development today was a well-defined rumor that some person had found a revolver, possibly the weapon with which Taylor was slain, shortly after the murder. This rumor was brought to the attention of the district attorney and the police, but both offices disclaimed any direct knowledge of the purported discovery.

While these local developments kept the officials engaged, word came that San Diego authorities believed the body of a suicide lying in the morgue there might be that of Edward F. Sands, missing butler, against whom Taylor swore out warrants for grand larceny and embezzlement and who has been sought earnestly by officers eager to learn what he knew of the murder.

Investigation, however, developed that the dead man was not Sands.

It also was announced today that the public administrator was searching for a second safe deposit box held by Mr. Taylor. One was found and opened, its contents being negligible. There was no direct evidence that he had another box, but the authorities said many men divided their documents in two or three boxes, and it was possible that the search would yield something. Inventory of Taylor's estate so far located has disclosed little except some automobiles, personal effects, and a small amount of cash.

Goldwyn Scouts Suppression Talk.

New York, Feb. 9. — Reports that motion picture producers were attempting to suppress the true facts in the recent slaying in Los Angeles of William Desmond Taylor, director, "are too absurd to warrant comment," Samuel Goldwyn, of the Goldwyn Pictures corporation, said today.

The public should realize, he added, that the picture industry, like any other, is made up of "all sorts of people and that being a moving picture man or woman is no more indication of character than being a plumber, steel man, a merchant or what-not."

MUSCLE SHOALS AND NATION'S DEFENSE

U. S. Should Not Be Caught Again Without Adequate Nitrate Supply, Army Engineer Says

Washington, Feb. 9. — The advisability of reducing the time clause in Henry Ford's offer for the lease of the Muscle Shoals, Ala., government-owned lands from 100 to 50 years was questioned indirectly by Major General Lansing H. Beach, chief of army engineers, in testimony before the house military committee. Referring to the general policy of the government not to lease its properties for a period exceeding 50 years, General Beach in his testimony at the second day of the hearing of the committee on the Ford proposal for the lands and plants at Muscle Shoals, said that "it is not always advisable to apply one general rule to things big and small."

Secretary Weeks, who was heard by the committee yesterday at the opening session, declared repeatedly that in his opinion it would be unwise to permit the lease of public lands or properties for so long a period as 100 years. General Beach, however, said today that it was "a question in as big and important a matter as this whether the 50-year rule would not work a hardship."

It was his belief, the general continued, that in disposing of the properties at Muscle Shoals the paramount consideration should be the effect upon the nation's defense rather than the manufacture of fertilizer. The country, he said, should not be "caught again" without an adequate nitrate supply.

The disadvantages of installing power plants in Alabama and establishing a market for their output were dwelt upon at length by the engineer chief. He said it would be comparatively easy to install a plant at Niagara Falls with a market close by, but it was quite another feat, from the standpoint of time, to do so in a sparsely settled region like that about Muscle Shoals, with only four cities within reasonable distance.

NORTHERN PACIFIC BLAZE UNEXPLAINED

Rescued Crew Silent on Topic, But Master of Ship Prepares Detailed Report

Newport News, Va., Feb. 9.—Refreshed by a few hours' sleep and apparently little concerned about their experience of being rescued from their ship, which was burned at sea yesterday, members of the crew of the steamship Northern Pacific today described the fire and the rescue but remained silent when questioned as to possible causes of the disaster. Meantime, Captain William Lustie, master of the Northern Pacific, prepared a detailed report for the shipping board and left for Norfolk.

Members of the Northern Pacific crew said the four men believed to have been burned to death were quartered just ahead from where the fire started, presumably on "B" deck, just aft the second funnel. They did not believe the men got out of their quarters, for no one had seen them after the fire was discovered by Second Officer A. B. Wilson.

M'DONALD TO BE NAMED STATE CONSERVATION COMMISSIONER

Albany, Feb. 9.—Alexander MacDonald, deputy commissioner since 1915, will be named state conservation commissioner by Govenor Miller, the latter announced tonight. The nomination of Mr. MacDonald will be sent to the senate directly, the Governor said.

Mr. MacDonald has been acting commissioner since January 1 when the former commissioner, Supreme Court Justice Ellis J. Staley, resigned to take his place on the bench. Mr. MacDonald has served as deputy under two commissioners, having been named by Commissioner George D. Pratt in 1915.

AIDING FAMINE SUFFERERS.

New York, Feb. 9. — The American Relief administration announced today that 6,629,961 bushels of corn and seed wheat, purchased with part of the $2,000,000 congressional appropriation, have been shipped from America for distribution in the famine districts of Russia.

An additional 605,952 bushels, purchased with Russian Soviet funds, also has been shipped and will be distributed by the American Relief. Several more ships are being loaded with grain and will sail shortly.

IRISH SITUATION IS DEADLOCKED

Sinn Feiners Decline to Liberate Prisoners; Said to Have Taken Several More

ULSTER PROTECTED

Places 5,000 Special Police Along Boundary to Prevent New Invasion From the South

(By the Associated Press)

London, Feb. 9. — There were no important developments today in the kidnappings in Ireland. It is believed that the few persons captured in Donegal have been released, but that otherwise the situation remains deadlocked, the Sinn Feiners apparently having declined to liberate prisoners until the football players from Monaghan have been released by the Ulsterites. The Sinn Feiners today are declared to have captured several more of the Ulster special police.

The northern government has taken strong measures for protection by placing some 5,000 specials along the boundary to prevent a new invasion from the south. It also is arranging for the reinforcement of the specials by troops.

The government headed by Sir James Craig also is urging the imperial government to take action in the situation, but the imperial authorities appear to be reluctant to interfere further pending action by the provisional government of the free state.

British troops today were still leaving Southern Ireland, and a statement made in parliament by Winston Spencer Churchill, secretary for the colonies, seemed to indicate a desire on the part of the imperial government to leave the solution of the disturbed situation to the two Irish governments.

Arthur Griffiths Optimistic.

Arthur Griffith, who is remaining over in London until tomorrow before returning to Dublin, in an interview tonight, expressed confidence that with patience and restraint by both sides, the Ulster question would be amicably settled within the present year on the basis of a unified Ireland. He added that it must be remembered the provisional government did not enjoy full governmental powers as yet, but that it might be relied on to adopt every action within its circumscribed powers to prevent illegal acts from being committed.

Mr. Churchill, on adjournment of the house of commons, announced that he had varied news from Ireland today; his general impression from it was that nothing of a serious character had occurred.

The provisional government had informed the imperial government that vigorous measures were being taken to secure the release of the kidnapped persons and expressed great confidence the lives of these persons were not endangered. Mr. Churchill said he had every reason to believe that the southern government would do its best to prevent any recurrence.

Free State Bill Introduced.

London, Feb. 9.—The Irish Free State bill designed to put into effect the terms of the Anglo-Irish treaty was formally introduced in the House of Commons this afternoon by Austen Chamberlain, the government leader. The bill was read for the first time and will be given a second reading next Thursday.

MOTHER OF SIX DAUGHTERS DRUGGED, THEN MURDERED

Chicago, Feb. 9. — Mrs. Bessie Greenberg, mother of six daughters, was drugged and then strangled to death in her home today, supposedly by burglars. The police and firemen were summoned when smoke was seen coming from the window of the house. They discovered meat burning on the stove and then found the body of Mrs. Greenberg in the dining room. The woman's neck was bound with rags and a gag was in her mouth.

The police learned from neighbors that Mrs. Greenberg had hired a negro to wash windows earlier in the day and believe that this man committed the crime. Three negro suspects were taken into custody tonight.

WOULD PROTECT LAND BANK.

Albany, Feb. 9. — The assembly today passed the Cheney bill designed to insure the land bank of the state of New York against loss through bond and mortgage investments. Under the existing law there are no restrictions upon the percentage of the value of bonds and mortgages up to which savings and loan association can borrow from the land bank.

Chicago Chooses Minister To Head Law Enforcement

Chicago, Feb. 9. — The Rev. John Williamson, pastor of the Methodist Episcopal church, tonight became law enforcement commissioner of Chicago with supreme powers in caring for the city's moral welfare. His appointment to the post, especially created by Mayor William Hale Thompson at the request of reform and religious organizations, was announced today by the mayor and tonight Mr. Williamson resigned as pastor of his church and formally accepted the new position.

In announcing his acceptance, the law enforcement commissioner declared that his office would be conducted "in accordance with the teachings of Christ." He appealed to all Christian organizations, regardless of race, color and creed, to join him in a crime drive which would forever rid Chicago of crooks regardless of what strata of life they live in." He was especially enjoined by Mayor Thompson to seek any corruption that might exist among city officials and was informed that his decisions would be final whether they hit "the highest city official or the lowest crook on the streets."

"Any who seek a compromise, hinder or thwart the purpose of the law enforcement commissioner will have their attention directed to a motto which will be placed on my desk," said Mr. Williamson in a formal statement tonight. "This motto reads, 'Respect of the law is of more value than respect for the violator, and such will be the end of the argument.'"

"LOVE IS A FUNNY THING"

Philadelphian Isn't Sure He Meant It —Her Hubby Wants $25,000 Love Balm.

Philadelphia.—"Love is a funny thing."

That, at least, is the viewpoint of Clarence G. Smallwood, a real estate broker, formerly of this city, according to his own statement in the Supreme court at Mineola, L. I.

Mr. Smallwood's sense of humor differs materially from that of Nelson Abrams of Oceanside, L. I., who is demanding $25,000 from Smallwood, alleging that the broker has alienated his wife's affections.

Mr. Smallwood admitted the authorship of sundry letters produced by Abrams, which mention kisses by "trainloads," "mountains" and "millions," but added that he guessed he did not mean all that he wrote.

Mrs. Mabel Abrams, wife of the plaintiff, said her husband has sworn at her and was jealous and put her out when Smallwood had nursed her after Abrams had gone to bed, leaving her ill and unattended.

ABANDON CLAY-PIPE FURNACE

English Company Declares Small Demand Among Smokers Is Reason for Closing Plant.

London.—Because of the small demand for clay pipes nowadays T. George & Co. of St. Jude's, Bristol, who have made such pipes for decades, decided to close down. The last batch of clay pipes was baked in their kiln recently.

Fifty years ago clay pipe making was the staple industry in the St. Jude's district, but the 14 firms then engaged in it are no more.

Three generations of the George family saw the kiln lighted for the last time. Up to twenty years ago the firm had a big South African trade, the pipes being used by European traders to barter with natives for their ivory, gold and other treasures.

The Everyday Sins.

I have heard men, in family prayer, confess their wickedness and pray that God would forgive them the sins that they got from Adam, but I do not know that I ever heard a father in family prayer confess that he had a bad temper. I never heard a mother confess in family prayer that she was irritable and snappish. I never heard persons bewail those sins which re the engineers and artificers of the moral condition of the family. The angels would not know what to do with a prayer that began, "Lord Thou knowest that I am a scold."—Henry Ward Beecher.

CAN'T LAUGH AT SMALL BOY

The number of things which a small boy carried in his pocket was once a subject exciting comment. Today a girl of any age usually exceeds the quota of the most acquisitive of small boys.

The articles which fill the feminine handbag or envelope purse are of course vastly different and yet there are certain similarities.

The small boy carried usually a supply of fishing tackle, some string and a hook or two and often a dead angleworm.

The woman's fishing tackle is different—her bag holds powder, rouge, mirror, a comb and sometimes an additional pair of eyelashes to stick on when she wants to dazzle.

The small boy carried nails.

The woman carries a nail file.

The small boy carried two coins with holes in them and a Canadian penny.

The woman carries carfare usually and her husband's telephone number and office address.

The small boy carried a bunch of jokes cut from the papers.

The woman carries at least a couple of love letters.

The small boy carried a secret missive in which the announcement of a neighborhood cock fight was mysteriously indicated in rubbed red chalk.

The woman carries a bargain sale announcement.

In addition the woman carries three postage stamps shriveled up and damaged, one broken glove clasp, one milk bottle return check, four memorandum slips, four house keys, two samples and several varieties of pins.

The small boy carried a pack of cigarettes.

So does the woman.—Exchange.

Ask Dad—He Knows!

It was little Ethel's first visit to the post exchange. Her father, a marine corps captain, had dropped in to buy some necessary articles and had taken along his five-year-old daughter for company.

The businesslike private drew a pencil from behind his ear, jotted down the sum total of the captain's purchases, wrapped up the articles in a parcel, gave the captain his change, and proceeded to straighten up his temporarily disordered stock.

Little Ethel watched the brisk movements of the post exchange clerk with the keenest interest, but said nothing until her father was ready to leave. Then she clutched at his coat sleeve and asked, just loud enough for the embarrassed private to hear:

"Say, daddy, is he a merchant marine?"—The Leatherneck.

APPREHENSION ON MARKET ALLAYED

Bullish Demonstration in Final Hours, U. S. Steel and Affiliated Issues Rising.

New York, Feb. 9. — Apprehension stirred by soldier bonus legislation developments at Washington exercised a depressing effect on stock market operators in the early hours of today's exchange session, but apparently was allayed, the market engaging in a bullish demonstration in the final hours.

United States steel closed at a gain of almost three points, affiliated issues also rising one to three points.

Buying of low-priced rails was another feature, the demand for Seaboard Air Line common and preferred, St. Louis & San Francisco common and preferred St. Louis Southwestern preferred, Kansas City Southern, Colorado Southern, Rock Island and Pere Marquette common and preferred resulting in gross gains of one to four points.

People's Gas, local tractions, food specialties, shippings and the oils and motors, were again bid up against the shorts. The few backward features included tobaccos and Columbia Graphophone common and preferred, the latter breaking sharply on announcement of receivership proceedings.

Foreign issues continued to lead the bond market to higher ground. United Kingdoms, French and Chinese offerings were especially strong. Convertible rails featured the domestic list, notably Seaboard Air Line 5s and 6s. Victory 3¾s were the only noteworthy exception to the better tone of United States war flotations, easing to below par.

BOY SCOUT ANNIVERSARY

Milford, Feb. 9.—The people of Milford were given an idea of the supreme importance of Boy Scout Work at an anniversary celebration on Wednesday evening at the Presbyterian church here. February 8th was observed throughout the United States as the twelfth birthday of the Scout movement. The Boy Scout Troops of Milford and Hartwick Seminary were the hosts and each Scout had the privilege of bringing his parents.

The program opened with a violin solo by Bernhardt Timmerman. Assistant Scoutmaster Joseph Cobb made the address of welcome, assuring the audience of the eagerness of the troops to be of civic aid, one of the objects of the Movement as stated in the local Constitution being "to help better the community." Prof. Theodor, principal of the local school, responded, likening the boy of Scout age to a lump of clay which may be molded into a work of art and value or into an ordinary flowerpot. How important that correct impressions be made.

Dr. J. C. Traver of Hartwick Seminary spoke of "The Standard of the Scout Movement," showing the comprehensiveness of the Scout Oath as a standard for a life that will leave an impression upon the world.

Cornelius Thomas sang a vocal solo, accompanied by Miss A. Fortainer, "The Greatest Thing in the World and its Relation to Scout Work" was the topic of Morris Skinner, who has found his year of scouting of inestimable value in building character.

Three boys were ready to receive the tenderfoot degree—Carl Hunt, LeRoy Price and Robert Muherder. The initiation ceremony was conducted by the Scoutmaster, all the Scouts joining in the Scout oath, the pledge to the flag and the singing of the National anthem. Dr. P. Wolford, chairman of the troop committee, gave the charge to the tenderfeet and presented the badges. He spoke forcefully about "A Scout is Clean."

Scoutmaster S. Kirkegaard of Laurens told of the work accomplished in the lives of the Scouts of his troops, some of whom were locally that of "impossibles."

After the program a social hour was enjoyed, the Presbyterian church very kindly opening the basement as well as the auditorium for the Scouts.

The Scouts have large plans for the immediate future, one of which is the giving of a three-act play. The troop is determined to make a success of its work, whose value is now unquestionable. With the people, especially the parents, cooperating the coming year will bring results.

NARROW ESCAPE AT DELHI

Two Boys on Sled Collide With Automobile But Escape Serious Injury.

Delhi, Feb. 9. — Donald Lewis, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Lewis of Elm street, and George E. Scott Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. George E. Scott, had a very narrow escape from death on Monday afternoon when coasting down the Agricultural school hill, which was slippery with ice. Just as they were coming into the highway they saw an automobile coming but it was impossible to stop and the driver of the car could not see them in time to avoid a collision. The sled apparently ran between the wheels of the car, a Dodge owned by Glen Green and driven by Earl Condon, and came out on the opposite side of the highway, smashed to pieces.

The two boys were taken to their homes and given medical attendance. Donald had a deep cut on his forehead, which required three stitches, and another on his leg, and was badly bruised. George's injuries, so far as evident, consist of bruises over his body and a swelling on one side. He was troubled with vomiting all day yesterday but is reported better this morning. Donald is up and about the house and both boys are now thought to be out of danger and well on the road to recovery. It was a most fortunate escape.

Besides the daughter mentioned she is survived by a son, John E. Huber, proprietor of the Huber Carriage works of which his father was for many years the head. Mrs. Huber's maiden name was McLaury and her long life has been spent in this vicinity. She was a home-loving woman of fine Christian character, devoted to her family and friends. Her funeral will be held from St. John's church, of which she was a member, Saturday at 2 p. m.

GET $28,000,000 OUT OF SHIP

Divers Recover Bullion From Laurentic, U-Boat Victim, After Three Years' Work.

London.—Nearly $28,000,000 worth of bullion has been recovered from the liner Laurentic, which was sunk in January, 1917, off the north coast of Ireland by a German submarine.

Operations have been suspended for the winter, but they will be resumed again in the spring, when an effort will be made to recover the remaining $10,000,000 to $15,000,000 worth of bullion which is said to be still at the bottom of the sea.

Great difficulties have been encountered by the salvage crew, for after three years' pounding by the Atlantic swells the liner has been transformed into a heap of twisted debris. Her decks, which settled down on the sea bottom, cover an area of several hundreds of feet. The wreck was practically covered with gravel and silt, as it is in a position which received the full force of the Atlantic gales.

This obstruction had to be removed, as far as possible, by powerful pumps placed in position by the divers, as the gold was at the bottom of the huge mass of wreckage.

Coinage of Trade Dollars.

The total number of trade dollars coined was 35,965,924. The number redeemed under the act of 1887 was 7,689,036, and from the bullion resulting from the melting of these dollars there were coined in subsidiary silver $2,666,674.30 and into standard silver dollars $5,078,472. Since the expiration of the period of redemption trade dollars have been purchased as bullion when presented at the mints.

CAN SEE MOVIE IN DAYLIGHT

Public Won't Have to Sit In Dark Now, Says Inventor of New Machine.

Davenport, Iowa.—It will no longer be necessary to sit in the dark at the movies, according to A. F. Victor, secretary of the National Society of Motion Picture Engineers, who announced the invention of a machine which he says will permit of daylight motion pictures.

Mr. Victor's invention reverses the present order of movies. The light, instead of being reflected from the rear of the theater, is now reflected behind the screen. It is now possible to have full daylight in the room and yet have perfect pictures on the screen.

EDITORIAL COMMENT.

There will be plenty of opposition to the proposed amendment to the fish and game laws, known as the Letts bill, when it comes up for consideration. License for the commercial angler would be one thing, as an opponent of the measure, but it would be quite another to license the man who goes a-fishing once in the sea on, or the child who goes out occasionally with a pole. Such things would incite to law violation, and the provisions of such a law could never be enforced.

Another proposition is to recompense farmers for the damage done by carelers and malicious hunters by money received from hunting licenses, just as now the dog license money is used to pay for sheep which are killed. There will be opposition to this bill also, if ever it gets out of committee, and chiefly because, once it is passed, owners of property will be inclined to let the trespassers go unnoticed and take their pay out of the state, which already has enough to pay.

Margot Asquith, distinguished Englishwoman, says that America is not really a free country. The reason for it is that she was compelled to throw away the cigaret which she had lighted while waiting to deliver her lecture in Philadelphia. In England, she says, a woman may smoke or do anything she pleases.

The real facts of the case are that there is no such a thing in England or America as absolute freedom. The nearest thing to it, and what we really mean by a free country, is one where government is by consent of a majority of the governed. If the majority of Americans object to Margot Asquith's personal habits, she must conform to custom or observe them covertly and not openly. That is American freedom—submission to the will of the majority; and it is England's idea of freedom also.

Much is said concerning legal red tape. A recent instance of it is reported from Buffalo. Salvatore Buffone, in jail since August for murder of a policeman, has not been brought to trial because he has $390. The law provides that he cannot be tried without counsel, and the court cannot assign counsel because the law provides that such assignment cannot be made unless the accused is wholly destitute. Lawyers who are assigned to a murder case by the court get $500, and there is no known way by which the county can pay the $110 and so make up the $500. While court and counsel are seeking out a way, the prisoner is not perturbed. His $390 may stand for a long time between him and the chair.

The city of New York had a reputation in some districts for slackers during the World war, but a recent report from the local division No. 5 of the city of Buffalo shows that New York is not in it. There are in the list of those put down in that single district as slackers, deserters and draft evaders, no less than 550 names, being apparently twice as many as in any other New York district yet reported. The excuse can hardly be made that it was easy to get over the border, since that border is Canada, and the second state of the able-bodied man going over would have been worse than his first.

It is an unfortunate thing that the Taylor murder in Los Angeles and its revelations have shattered many ideals. But in the end these revelations may result in good. There is no question as to the moral conditions which in many instances have prevailed, and if there is a house-cleaning at Hollywood it may cost something financially—a fact which should not be reckoned—but it will in the end put the movie business on a higher plane than which of recent years it has maintained.

The present-week difficulties between Ulster and certain elements in the South of Ireland are much to be deprecated. Matters were going along so well that it would be a great misfortune should acts of lawlessness, such as were yesterday reported, result in the disruption of the existing plans for the Irish Free state. Michael Collins and the other leaders of the South Ireland government condemn the raid in Ulster, but there is good reason to think that the De Valera faction which thrives on conflict, is deliberately inciting the raids. One thing is evident, that the ability of Ireland to govern itself is in the balance, and a continuance of rioting may result in the overturn of all that has been done toward the pacification of the island.

"Pure Shoe Bill" Again Being Drafted

Albany, Feb 7.—A so-called "Pure Shoe Bill" is being drafted again this year for presentation to the legislature. A similiar bill has been introduced each year for several years past but has never become a law, by Assemblyman Caulfield, Republican, of Brooklyn. The bill is intended to compel manufacturers of shoes to brand all substitutes used for leather in the shoes.

PRESS AND PUBLIC OPINION

What New York Does.

Evidently the great mission of New York is to receive imported Europeans, handle them, police and teach them, supervise and assist them and their children in their physical life, give them church privileges and gradually turn them into Americans. It is a big job and very, very costly. New York gets no credit but mostly derision from the rest of the country for tackling it. All the same, it is a job that has to be done. It has been faced in New York, and on the whole, New York does it marvellously. People whose minds picture New York as a selfish city, grabbing all things and making no return, are imperfectly aware of the facts.—[E. S Martin in Life.

DIES WITH ANNEALING SECRET.

Binghamton Chemist Found Copper-Gold Alloy Process.

Binghamton, Feb. 9.—Charles E. Taylor, who is said to have mastered certain metallurgic processes which have been lost to humanity for ages, died Tuesday at City hospital without revealing his secret.

He was seventy-four years old, a jeweler, and had toiled for years to re-discover a method of annealing copper. His efforts apparently were crowned with success, as he manufactured knives with blades of pure copper which were as keen as razors. In the course of his experiments he discovered also a method of striking a copper-gold alloy which withstood acid tests and was far cheaper than the present method of making filled gold. A company in Springfield, Mass., was preparing to manufacture watchcases of his alloy.

Louis Taylor, of Bernice, Calif., the jeweler's son, has gone over his papers without success in an effort to find his formulas.

Marines Resume Enlistments.

Washington, D. C., Feb. 9.—The marine corps has again opened its ranks to reenlistments from the army and navy and also to the acceptance of men who have had no prior military service. In recent months enlistments in the marine corps were restricted exclusively to former marines although men with excellent records in the latter services have been applying at the recruiting offices for the honor of "doing a hitch" with the leathernecks.

A fixed quota of 600 recruits has been set by Major General John A. Lejeune, Commandant of the Corps and this comparatively small number will enable the recruiting officers of the corps to continue the policy of hand-picked selection from the applications that will follow the removal of the pay restriction.

HON. JOHN D. CLARKE SPEAKS

Addresses Kiwanis Club of Binghamton Thursday Noon—Not Member of Agricultural "Bloc" But Deeply Interested in Farming.

Representative John D. Clarke told the Binghamton Kiwanis club Thursday noon that while he is not a member of the so-called "agricultural bloc" in Congress that he takes a very deep interest in the welfare of the agricultural industry, which he termed the fundamental industry of this Congressional district.

Mr. Clarke speaking at the weekly club luncheon at the Hotel Arlington, made a brief report of some of the Congressional matters in which he has played a part. He maintained despite a popular belief to the contrary, that congress had really achieved some big things since the Harding administration came into power. Perhaps all of the remedial legislation petitioned for by those interests which have not been willing to try to work out their own salvation has not been passed, but much of a constructive nature has gone through the congressional wheels and received executive approval.

Prominent among the achievements of the national legislature, he mentioned the measure which has largely stopped the gambling in grain futures; that which after 30 years has placed the great packing industry under government supervision; the budget bill which, under the direction of General Dawes, promised to effect large savings in governmental expenses; the veterans' bill, which has consolidated the work of three inefficient government agencies into one smooth working department, which is giving needed relief to our soldier dependents.

Referring more specifically to the economical accomplishments of the Congress, he mentioned the reduction in military appropriations made possible by cutting down the size of the standing army; the saving brought about by stopping the renting of offices outside government buildings and the lopping off from government payrolls of thousands of useless employes.

He called attention to the fact that federal appropriations of $19,000,000,000 in 1919 were cut to $7,500,000,000 in 1920; to $6,500,000,000 in 1921 and that for 1922 they will be less than $4,000,000,000. Of this latter sum nearly $2,000,000,000 is necessitated by fixed charges resulting from the war.

Mr. Clarke urged upon his hearers a closer study of the working of Congress and a better citizenship in general. He called attention to the fact that in this district less than 30 per cent of the voters are usually represented at a primary election.

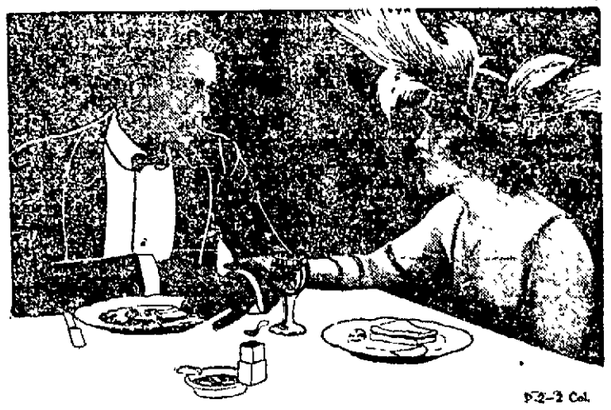

He concluded his interesting address with an eloquent tribute to the accomplishment of the Disarmament Conference.

HEAR THE CALL OF THE WILD.

Trainmen on Delaware & Northern Down Brakes and Chase the Fox.

Blood in the veins of residents along the East Branch of the Delaware pulses strong and free, unhampered by convention and unchecked by modern notions of what it owes to industry. The spirit moves and forthwith they catch the stride. Foxes appear and they take after them. All is well.

One day last week dogs had started a fox on Shaw's hill near Downsville, and the animal after crossing the river and reaching Limer Aitken's flat, became exhausted and was barely able to keep out of the reach of the dogs as it circled around the flat. William Blenco heard the dogs and saw the condition of the fox and started after it. About the same time a D. & N. freight train pulled around a curve and the crew observed the chase and almost certain possibility of capturing the animal. Brakes were clapped on and the train came to a standstill, while the trainhands joined in the chase. Blenco was the fortunate one, however, and captured the animal alive and later sold it to Odell Bros. who now have it on exhibition.

SOME HISTORIC LETTERS

Last month we reported some interesting discoveries in the old Tower room. New finds are made almost daily and they seem to grow in importance. On December 20th the librarian found the old archives of the institution in the bottom of two old trunks. The first document he found was the manuscript of Dr. Pohlman's Memorial Volume of 1866. This seemed to be the latest document in the whole collection of hundreds of old letters and papers. Some of them are dated before 1750. They include letters written by John Christopher Hartwick, Frederick Muhlenberg, the first speaker of the House of Representatives, William Cooper, the father of the novelist, and Jeremiah Van-Rensselaer, Lieut. Governor of New-York and executor of Hartwick's will. Dr. Pohlman was evidently the last one to examine them carefully, and even he admits that the documents were too voluminous for him to work out the complete story of the early history of Hartwick. In other words, here are documents which have not been examined by anyone now living.

In another part of the library we found a first and German edition of the Hallische Nachrichten presented to the seminary by Dr. Wenner about forty years ago. They are over a hundred and fifty years old. Together with these we found two manuscripts volumes, one, somewhat of a diary. Date 1728 and 1730. Writer: John Christopher Hartwick when a boy of 14 and 16 in Germany. There are about five hundred pages in his hand writing.—[Hartwick Seminary Monthly.

Case of Richard Coller Dismissed.

The case of Richard Coller, who was arrested some time ago on a warrant charging attempted larceny, the complainant being Fred Baker, was dismissed by Judge Huntington in city court yesterday morning on the motion of Coller's attorney, George L. Wohlleben, and with the consent of Police Attorney Donald Grant. When originally arraigned Coller was fined and given a suspended jail sentence by Acting City Judge Lynn Hathaway, which conviction was later set aside by Judge Huntington and Coller ordered to plead again. The case was brought up last Saturday, Coller pleading not guilty and asking for a jury trial. Yesterday's decision now dismisses the proceeding.

CONGRESSMAN CLARKE HOST

Congressman John D. Clarke, of the 34th District of New York, gave a "Farm Supper" Friday evening, Feb. 3rd, at the Columbia Country club, to the members of the Committee on Agriculture of the House of Representatives, of which he is a member, and to the members of the Joint Committee on Agriculture of the House and Senate.

The guests were: Secretary of Agriculture, Wallace, Assistant Secretary of the Navy, Roosevelt; Senators Wadsworth, Calder, Robinson, Capper and Nicholson, Representatives Mondell, Garrett, Haugen, Jacoway, Snyder, Mann, Mills, Rainey, Summers, J. McLaughlin, M. McLaughlin, Ward, TenEyck, Aswell, Williams, Knutson, Purnell, Funk, Riddick, Sinclair, Clague, Gernard, Jones, Kincheloe, Thompson and Hayes.

The menu for the event was an excellent one and bore evidence of having been phrased by the genial congressman himself, for it refers to "Turks, 'from the Catskills,'" "A Pig that appeared once too often before the agriculture committee," "Ayrshire Punch" "The Ham What Am" and "Korn Cobs." The menu cards were well printed and bore on the cover a halftone of the Arbor Hill farmhouse of the congressman.

SPEAKS HIGHLY OF THIS HOME MADE COUGH REMEDY

Says It Acts With Unusual Speed—Loosens the Mucus—Relieves the Irritation and Stops the Cough

Costs Next to Nothing for a Big Supply

Whenever anyone in my family catches cold and begins to cough and sneeze, and hawk and breathe heavy, it doesn't take me many minutes to fix up a remedy that will drive away all such troubles in double quick time.

It's no secret—anyone can make a half pint of the finest cough medicine in the world for a trifling sum.

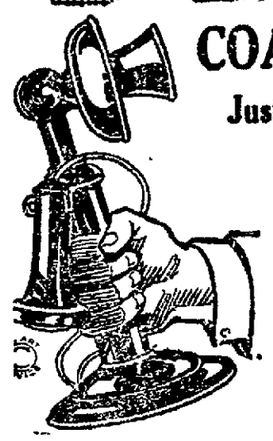

Get from any druggist one ounce of Pinex (double strength)—to this add a little granulated sugar and enough water to make one half pint—that's all there is to it.

But now you've got a real medicine—and you—the first spoonful you take acts directly on the membrane of the throat and nose, the tickling ceases almost instantly—the inflammation begins to clear—up comes the stubborn mucus and often in 24 hours every trace of the cough that frightened you is gone.

Its really remarkable how this home made remedy acts on the mucous membrane and that is one reason it is so helpful to thousands of Catarrh sufferers.

INSTALLING RADIO SETS

Oneontans to Receive News and Listen to Concerts at Home—Several Broadcasting Stations Now in Operation with Daily Service—Radio Telephony's Limitless Possibilities Appreciated Here.

While there have for some time been a number of amateur wireless receiving stations in the city with Russell E. Brigham having a more elaborate equipment than others, there has with the development of a number of broadcasting stations sending out regular daily service been aroused a wider interest in the subject and the coming summer will doubtless witness the installation of many receiving outfits both in city and country.

The Star has purchased one of the latest and most approved Westinghouse sets through R. E. Brigham, which will be in operation within a few weeks it is expected at the Star building and it is not improbable that important news developments and sporting events such as the results of the big league ball games will be first received by wireless telephone during the coming summer.

W. C. Brannaman at his garage on Wall street already has one of these sets in operation and Edward E. Ford and Lynn Bresee have equipment ordered for early installation in their residences, with doubtless other citizens either having placed orders or considering so doing. The Oneonta club is also considering early installation for the entertainment of members.

Not until comparatively recently has the radio development made it seem feasible for novices to attempt to receive the messages that have been radiating through space, the extent depending upon the power with which they dispatched and the amplifiers used. Formerly sent by telegraph code only, now telephony is used almost exclusively

There is no mystery about the manner in which the transmitting station operates and carries the voice through the air, says a recent newspaper article. It generates what is known as continucus waves. These surge out through the ether in all directions from the radiating antenna and are picked up by the receiving antenna, which now need be no more than a wire stretched across the top of the building or even lengthwise in the garret of the house and these sound waves are then communicated to the telephones through the receiving set. The listener has but to place the receiver at his ear and receive whatever is being sent out.

There are several broadcasting stations now in existence, that most frequently listened in on hereabouts doubtless being the one at Pittsburgh, Pa., known as K. D. K. A.

It has a daily program commencing at 7 p. m., and continuing until 10 p. m. It is authoritatively stated that with recent development the novice need know nothing about the scientific or technical principles which govern radio transmission in order to enjoy its results.

Mechanical and electrical genius have developed the receiving apparatus so that it is as simple to operate as any of the various electric appliances now in daily use in the homes, and the process of further simplification is being carried on daily. Even now no more skill or dexterity is required to operate the apparatus than is needed for every day household appliances.

Development Rapid.

The whole art is now in the same condition as the phonograph was in the first years of its commercial success. Can you remember the time when you paid a dime at the county fair to be permitted to put a pair of rubber tubes into your ears, listen to the Lord's Prayer and then marvel at it? The talking machine has undergone a series of remarkable developments since then. The radiophone, however, has far surpassed the talking machine in its first year of commercial operation and its development will be far more rapid, because it has the accumulated experience of wireless telegraphy back of it to help it along.

Future Possibilities.

Its future possibilities are unlimited. They are well illustrated by the manner in which President Harding's speech at Arlington Cemetery over the body of the Unknown Soldier was broadcasted across the country. Within the next two years all the important speeches will be transmitted over the telephone wires to each of th radiophone stations and then sent out broadcast to the homes of everyone who has a receiving set installed.

One of the certainties of the immediate future is that the large hotels and apartment houses will be compelled by force of circumstances to equip their structures with a central receiving station. This can be done very simply, because there is no limit to the number of telephones that can be operated from a single receiving set. Any resident who does not wish to sit and listen to the music or speeches will simply turn a switch and shut his particular receiver off. This will not in any manner interfere with those who desire to listen in.

Benefits the Farmer.

To the farmer whose home is located far from any urban center, the radio offers a daily entertainment undreamed of in scope. It opens up an entirely new era for the rural dweller, and will banish monotony from the farm. In fact, whole farm communities already are engaged every evening listening to the new marvel. The latest and finest music in the world is brought right into their homes simultaneously with the world's latest news, and, what is more important to them from an economic point of view, the latest market quotations on their produce.

ANNUAL MEETING TONIGHT

Every Man and Woman in Oneonta Invited to Chamber of Commerce Gathering.

Every man and woman in Oneonta, as well as members, are urged to attend the annual meeting of Oneonta Chamber of Commerce to be held at 7:30 o'clock this evening at Municipal hall.

Because of interest in the address by Bradley Fuller esq. on the pooling plan of the Dairymen's League Co-operative association, the meeting will be made public. Farmers of the surrounding community are likewise invited to be present to hear this interesting explanation.

Suggestions by members of activities which should be undertaken by the Chamber and included in its 1922 Program of Work will form the major part of the meeting's business. Since the Chamber's efforts the coming year will be directed along the lines set forth in its Progrom of Work, every member of the organization is naturaly interested in having his say as to what projects should receive attention.

President Owen C. Becker will preside at the meeting and will render a brief report, as will also Treasurer Ralph W. Henderson and Secretary Everett Hicks.

Announcement of the seven directors elected in the final election which closed last evening, will be made for the first time at tonight's meeting. Members of the Election committee canvassed last night the 242 ballots cast but with-held information regarding the nominees chosen.

Refreshments of "hot dogs" and coffee will be served at the meeting.

COURT REGINA INSTALLS

Banquet and Entertainment Feature Meeting at Which Miss May Ryan of Binghamton, District Deputy, was Guest of Honor.

A recent meeting of Court Regina the newly elected officers were installed by the District Deputy, Miss May Ryan, grand regent of Court Binghamton, assisted by Miss Elizabeth Gilmartin, past monitor of the local court. There was a large attendance of members to witness the beautiful ceremonies of installation.

Following the business session, a most appetizing banquet, prepared by a committee of which Mrs. Margaret Crowley was the capable chairman, was served. The tables were prettily decorated in keeping with St. Valentine's day. Mrs. Veronica Getter being in charge of that feature. Favors were given to each diner, the district deputy finding with her favor a special gift of gold, for which Miss Ryan voiced her appreciation.

Miss Ryan gave a talk after the banquet, outlining work for the court and complimenting the members upon their splendid work in building up such an active court. Her talk was followed by an entertainment consisting of piano selections by Mrs. Rose Long, and a vocal solo by Miss Irene Hayes, all of which were much enjoyed.

The affair was held in B. of R. T. hall and the committee in charge of the evening's program consisted of Mrs. Margaret Brady, Mrs. Mary Smith, Mrs. Margaret Hogan, Mrs. Anna Vanderiner, Mrs. Agnes Stapleton and Mrs. Margaret Newcomb.

Spanish Veterans Meet Tonight.

Commencing this evening, the United Spanish War Veterans of Oneonta will hold regular monthly meetings, in place of the intermittent sessions that have prevailed in the past. TWO GAMES AT NORMAL

Wanderers Will Oppose Oneonta Independents and Girl's Second Team Will Stack up Against Hartwick Seminary.

Two interesting games of basketball will be played in the Normal school gymnasium this evening when the Wanderers will play the Oneonta Independents and the Normal girl's second team will oppose the Hartwick Seminary girl's quintet.

The Independents have a strong aggregation and are out to make trouble for the Wanderers, who will be without the services of two of their best players, "Stub" Parks and Dewey Thomas. Manager Crounse has had to shift the lineup considerably but he is in hope that he has struck upon a winning combination. The game should prove of interest.

The girl's game should be a fast one as the teams are well matched and each is determined to emerge victorious from the struggle. The girl's game will start at 7:15 and the Wanderers-Independents contest will go on at 8 o'clock.

HELD FOR GRAND JURY

Howard Yager of this City is in Cooperstown Jail Charged for Violation of Liquor Law.

Howard Yager of this city, 44 years of age, is in the Cooperstown jail held for the grand jury on a charge of illegal sale of liquor as the result of a "moonshine" raid conducted by Sheriff Williams and his deputies Tuesday evening.

The sheriff realized that there was a source of contraband liquor in Cooperstown when he arrested a youth but 18 years of age for public intoxication. Investigation as to where he procured the liquor led to the arrest of Yager who, it is alleged, was mixing good whiskey with a poor quality and freely offering the deadly mixture for sale at fifty cents a glass. Yager was taken before Justice of the Peace Vandewerker who held him under $1,000 bail for the action of the grand jury.

Enjoyed Themselves and Worked Too

The members of the Elm Park Methodist church enjoyed a social time yesterday afternoon—and accomplished something too. The men met in the new parsonage and had a "lathing bee," practically completing the work of putting in the lath in the various rooms of the house. The women met in the church parlors simultaneously and tied three quilts for the church.

As darkness fell, the men returned to the church, where both men and women enjoyed a delicious covered dish luncheon. All felt that they had accomplished something worth-while during the afternoon, and enjoyed themselves besides.

MRS. C. SCOTT HANKS DEAD

Respected Resident of Oneonta Expires Suddenly Last Evening of Heart Failure.

Many friends in Oneonta will learn with deepest regret this morning of the death, from heart failure, of Mrs. C. Scott Hanks at about 8:30 o'clock last evening at her home, 33 Walnut street. Though it had been known for several years that Mrs. Hanks suffered from organic weakness of the heart, there had been nothing to indicate such sudden termination of her illness. She had been upon Main street during the afternoon, at her husband's office and the store of Rote & Rote, and had returned home about six o'clock, apparently in her usual health. Soon after she suffered a severe attack and though medical aid was at once summoned, she failed gradually and at the hour above stated passed peacefully into rest.

Mrs. Hanks, whose maiden name was Hannah Amanda Gump, was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John A. Gump of Everett, Pa. She was married to Dr. Hanks at that place in 1876, and there for a short time afterwards they resided. They then moved to Whitehall and after nine years' residence came in 1887 to Oneonta, which city had ever since been their home. She united with the church in early life and for many years had been a member of the First Presbyterian society of this city and of the Oneonta Woman's club, and so long as health permitted ... in the work of the two organizations. She was greatly interested in art and in fine needlework, and was widely known throughout the state, where she had for years been judge each fall at leading fairs, her services in this capacity being always in demand. She was a loving wife and mother and had many friends by whom she was beloved and esteemed and whose sympathy will go out to the family so suddenly and greatly bereaved.

The deceased is survived by her husband and her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Chester A. Rote of this city, who are members of the household; also by two granddaughters, Miss Dorothy Hanks, who is a teacher in the public schools of Huntington, L. I., and who has resided with her grandparents since early childhood, and Miss Hazel M Hanks who, with her mother, wife of the late Chester G. Hanks, resides at Syracuse. She leaves also three brothers—H. F. Gump and S. H. Gump of Everett, and E J. Gump of California, and three sisters, Mrs. J. C. Nycum, Mrs. W. H. Howard and Mrs. G. W. Mellotte, all of Everett.

Announcement of the day and the hour of the funeral will be made in The Star of Saturday. Burial will probably be at Everett.

STAMFORD MAN STRICKEN

Harry Harris, Clothier, Falls Dead While Waiting on Customer Late Last Night.

Stamford, Feb. 9. — While waiting on a customer in his clothing store on Main street here tonight, Harry Harris fell to the floor dead.

Mr. Harris, who had conducted the store for several years, had not been in the best of health recently, but he had been at his business every day and it was not thought that he was in a serious condition. At 10:30 tonight, he was talking with a customer when he expired instantly. Dr. Hubbell was summoned and pronounced death due to heart trouble.

Mr. Harris was a native of Russia, and came to this country when a young man. He had been a resident of Stamford for more than 20 years. He was industrious, highly respected, and took an active part in community affairs. His many friends will learn with regret of his sudden death.

Mr. Harris is survived by his widow; by one son, Samuel Harris, a student at Harvard; a daughter at Barnard college, and four younger children at home. No arrangements for the funeral had been made tonight.

MARRIAGES.

Chamberlin-Jane.

Burr B. Chamberlin and Mabel Anna Jane were married at noon yesterday at the home of the bride's sister, Mrs. Ira Silliman, 7 Otsego street, in the presence of about 20 relatives and close friends, Rev. Dr. C. S. Pendleton officiating. They were attended by Mr. and Mrs. Silliman.

During the ceremony, which was most impressive, Miss Gertrude Silliman, a niece of the bride, presided at the piano, playing softly "The Melody of Love." The bride was attractively gowned in white pussy willow satin and carried a shower bouquet of white roses while her matron of honor wore white canton crepe and carried pink roses. Following the ceremony a delicious wedding breakfast was served, at the conclusion of which Mr and Mrs. Chamberlin left on a short wedding trip to Utica and Syracuse. They will later make a more extensive tour.

The bride is a daughter of the late Mr and Mrs. Benjamin Jane of this city and is an accomplished young lady with a host of friends here. The groom is well known in the city where he has been engaged as an electrical contractor for several years. A young man of excellent habits and pleasing personality, he has made many friends during his residence here.

Wright-Pindar.

Charles A. Wright and Mrs. Ella F. Pindar, both of Davenport Center, were ... married at 10 o'clock yesterday morning at the Main Street Parsonage by Rev. Dr. C. S. Pendleton. The couple will reside in Davenport Center. Mr. Wright is a retired farmer and both he and his bride are well known and much respected people

THE COTTAGE GARDENER

STARTING PLANTS FOR GARDEN–SOWING SEED

HOW TO DEVELOP THE BOX PLANTS

Transplanting and Nursing, the Key to Success in the Art of Growing Things.

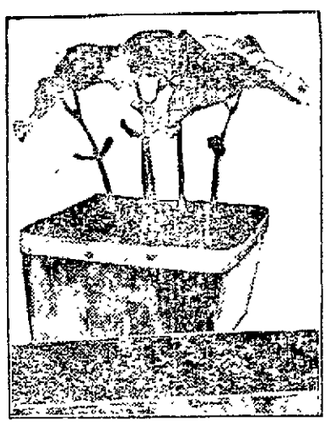

HEAT AND SUNSHINE NEEDED

Tender Shoots Require Careful Attention From Time They Come Through Ground Until Planted in the Open.

It is an art to produce from the small vegetable or flower seed strong and healthy plants that the owner will be proud of when they are set out in the open.

It is intensely interesting to note the quick response plants will make to a little attention and nursing.

Tomato, cabbage, pepper and other vegetable plants, as well as any of the numerous kinds of flowers that are first planted in flats in the basement or placed in an upper floor window where there is heat and sunlight, must have attention. Next to warmth and sunlight in importance is sufficient moisture to urge growth.

When the plants have reached an age when they are large enough to be removed from the flat—without injury to the roots, they should be transplanted to small pots or berry baskets—anything that will hold the soil and a little moisture. Cartons serve this purpose very well.

Another transfer of the plant is advisable as the roots become matted—an indication that the basket or pot it not large enough. It will be noted that a larger container will soon be found too small, and that an additional repotting will be advantageous, if a larger and healthier plant is desired. Many careful gardeners make at least three transplantings before the plant is set out in the open. By that time it is strong enough to battle the elements with the possible exception of frost.

In setting the plant in the open, by this careful and interesting method of transplanting, the roots intact with the mass of soil clinging, may be transferred in a manner that not the slightest injury is done to the tender roots and soon the plant has taken hold in its new home in a manner that will astonish the inexperienced cottage gardener—in fact it is not uncommon for plants in the more advanced stage of development to be in blossom or bearing small fruit.

Plants such as tomatoes transplanted in the open in this manner should be staked at once—better still, have the stakes in the ground before the patches may be seen on the roots and sometimes on the lower part of the stems.

A Nut Like Daddy.

The little daughter had endured evening after evening her daddy's occupation of writing and his monosyllable replies to remarks from members of the family. Finally, when she was asked what she intended to do when she grew up, the little daughter said: "Oh, write papers and be a nut like daddy."

PLANT POSY SEED EARLY

Every home and nature lover likes nice flowers—and nearly everybody wants early flowers. By planting the seed in flats or boxes long before it is time to plant seed outdoors one can have an early start and early blossoms. Plenty of warm sunlight will be necessary; incidentally it is necessary to see that the boxes and plants are given an occasional watering.

HOME GARDEN FLOWERS

What to Grow to Beautify Your Home and Lawn.

Old-Fashioned Posies May Be Relied Upon to Produce; Will Add Beauty to Premises.

When making plans for the home vegetable garden all the emphasis should not be placed upon vegetables, but provision should be made for planting a few flowers as well. Where a cottage and a lawn are included in the general scheme the flowers can often be arranged around the foundation of the house, or in a bed separating the lawn either from a neighboring property or from the vegetable garden.

Old fashioned zinnia, petunia, bachelor's button, cockscomb, scarlet sage, and cosmos are among the most easily cultivated flowers and go a long way toward brightening up the general appearance of the home surroundings. Where space will permit a flower garden consisting of dahlias, asters, cannas, roses, gladioli, and various other flowering plants that will add color and beauty to the place, and at the same time furnish cut flowers for the house, is highly desirable.

From the standpoint of economy, the plantings around the foundations of the house should, as a rule, be made of permanent low-growing shrubbery, mainly that which grows native in the locality, and the annual flowering plants given a place in connection with the garden proper or in a border. It is urged, however, by the United States Department of Agriculture that more attention be given to improvement of home surroundings, including the care of a good lawn and flowers.

GREEN FOOD FOR CHICKENS

Winter care of fowls must, in so far as possible, duplicate the natural conditions of the regular production season in spring and summer. Thus some form of green, succulent food is very useful to keep the birds in a healthy condition and their systems in tone. If no succulent food is available, Epsom salts (fed at the rate of one pound for every 100 birds) in the drinking water about twice a month, makes a satisfactory substitute.

HOW JACK STILLWELL WHIPPED A RATTLESNAKE

Gen. "Sandy" Forsyth's band of scouts had been surrounded by Chief Roman Nose's Cheyennes and in the sandy bed of the Arikaree river in eastern Colorado they were fighting for their lives one September day in 1868. They had no food; their doctor had been killed, and relief must come soon if they were to be saved. Forsyth called for volunteers to go to Fort Wallace, Kan., 100 miles away, for aid.

Every unwounded man at once offered himself for the perilous journey, but the general selected Pete Trudeau, an old hunter, and Jack Stillwell, a boy of nineteen. When night came the two scouts started. Taking off their boots, they walked backward down the dry river bed in their stocking feet to deceive any Indians who might come upon their trail.

When morning came they hid in a dry ravine within sight and sound of an Indian camp. They had nothing to eat or drink, and the sun beat upon them fiercely all day long. On the morning of the fourth day they found themselves on the open plain with no cover in sight.

Suddenly they came upon the skeleton of a buffalo surrounded by a rank growth of green grass. Into this scanty refuge Trudeau and Stillwell hastily crept. They were not a minute too soon. A large party of Indians appeared and halted within a hundred yards of their hiding place. The scouts were hugging the ground when Trudeau heard a hiss in the grass in front of him, and a second later a big rattlesnake crawled sluggishly out and coiled within a foot of the scout's head.

Stillwell was chewing tobacco, and just before the snake sounded his deadly rattle, the young scout leaned forward and shot the spray of tobacco juice squarely into the open jaws and eyes of the reptile. The rattler could not stand such a dose. He crawled hastily away. The Indians soon passed on without discovering the scouts. Stillwell's lucky shot had saved their lives.

Forty-eight hours later the two men reached Fort Wallace. Trudeau was completely broken by his terrible experience and he died a few days later, but when the relief expedition left Fort Wallace the undaunted Stillwell rode at its head. He lived to become a judge in Texas and a leading figure in that state until his death a few years ago.

Editors in Glass by Themselves.

The doctor can bury his mistakes, the dentist can plug his up with gold and charge it to the patient, and the lawyer gets a chance to try his case over when he finds an error, but with us it is different. When we make a mistake we have to climb the barbed wire fence and get over on the other side to make things right with our customers—we can't ask him to do it. The little extra care and attention necessary to do things right are therefore very important.—Selected.

TRAPPERS FIND GOLD

Reticent About Discoveries Made in Kootenay District.

Bring in Fine Specimens of Ore Showing Visible Coarse Gold Obtained From Carbonate Float—May Be Lost Vein.

Nelson, Can.—Two trappers arriving from a district adjacent to Kootenay lake—they will not be more specific—have brought in a fine sample of ore showing visible coarse gold obtained from a carbonate float. They state the snow fell too early for them to locate the vein from which the float came, but consider it could easily be traced, as there is very little overburden in the locality. The advent of these trappers with a bully specimen beyond suspicion of any "doctoring," has fired old-timers with enthusiasm. Some of them predict a minor stampede when the snow melts.

As in the olden times, the clew to the find is carefully guarded, but it is known to be within fifty miles of Nelson, and near the lake—which narrows the field of speculation, guessers are busy.

Old-time prospectors believe it must be the vein discovered by two prospectors many years ago round Kuskanook way, whose very names other than sobriquets are forgotten but it is recalled that they took $12,000 out of their claim in two months, and "did it in" riotously. One of them was killed in a gamblers' quarrel at Kuskanook. The other stole an Indian's squaw in the Crow's Nest and fell by right of vengeance to the red man's rifle. Tom Proctor, after whom the town of Proctor is named, was to have been his partner, but himself died before a deal was struck. So the whole transaction was blotted out, and even the source of the gold faded into the land of legends.

Many prospectors have searched for the lost vein, and the idea is growing in Nelson that the two trappers have found it.

This history ringing as an echo of an almost forgotten past has stirred Kootenay prospectors more than anything which has happened in the last two years. The report, however, is unimpeachable, and is indorsed by prominent members of the British Columbia Prospectors' Protective association to whom the trappers are known and who are familiar with the ancient tragedy.

Notorious Prison.

Belem prison, Mexico City, formerly known as one of the plague spots of Mexico, has been renovated and made into a model house of detention by the Mexican government. Schools for the teaching of manual training and the rudiments of education are maintained for the women, and schools for similar training for the men will be installed shortly. Shower baths and fountains have been installed and the meals are wholesome and sufficient. Heretofore, Belem had been notorious for its unhygienic condition and the worst fate imaginable to be meted out to a criminal was a sentence to this prison.—Dearborn Independent.

More Beds for Service Men.

Washington, D. C.—Government facilities for the treatment of nearly 6,000 more former service patients will be provided by additional beds to be established in hospitals in 18 states early this year, it was announced by Director Forbes of the veterans' bureau.

TO ERADICATE BOVINE T. B.

Directors of Otsego Accredited Herd Cooperative Association, Inc., Elect Officers and Discuss Plans for Complete Eradication of Bovine Tuberculosis in Otsego County at Meeting Held Here Yesterday.

At a meeting of the directors of the Otsego Accredited Herd Cooperative Association, Inc, held yesterday at the Chamber of Comerce offices, officers of the association were elected, by-laws drafted and plans and policies discussed for presentation to the membership at the next meeting, which will be held in Cooperstown at the call of the president.

The following officers were elected:

President and treasurer—C. J. Armstrong of Milford.

Vice-president—Dr. M. Hamilton of Oneonta.

The secretary will be elected at the next meeting.

In addition to the directors, all of whom were present except John J. Walrath of East Springfield, those in attendance included Dr. Leonard, state and federal veterinarian, Dr. D. W. Shaffer of Cooperstown, federal veterinarian for Otsego county, Dorr W. Melsaury, director of the Bureau of Animal Husbandry of the State Department of Farms and Markets, and William J. Birdsall, representative of the Bureau of Cooperative Associations of the State Department of Farms and Markets. Those gentlemen offered many valuable suggestions to the directors in regard to the drafting of the by-laws. The by-laws drafted yesterday will be presented for approval to the membership at the next association meetings.

The formation of the association, which was formally launched in this city on December 31, last, is the direct outgrowth of the failure of the County Board of Supervisors to appropriate funds for the maintenance of a county veterinarian. Realizing that some action must be taken in the matter advocates of the accredited herd plan got together and formed the association, which now numbers nearly 200 members.

The association has as its purpose the complete eradication of bovine tuberculosis from Otsego county through the medium of the accredited herd plan, under which federal and state aid is extended to those counties who co-operate, either through a county appropriation or through the efforts of an independent organization. Since the plan was first adopted in the county, over 500 cattle owners have had their herds tested, the largest number in any county of the state. The number of accredited herds, which are those that show entire freedom from the disease on two successive yearly tests, is less, however, than in some other counties, but it is the hope of the leaders in the local movement that Otsego county will soon surpass all others in the number of accredited herds.

Wheat History Was Made.

Among the ceremonies to celebrate Armistice day in France was the inauguration of the first of the commemorative boundary stones which the Touring club of France is going to place at the points on all roads of France where they cross the lines of the battle front of 1918.

These stones are in the form of a four-sided truncated pyramid with a poilu's helmet, on top, crowned with laurels. On the side are grenades from which more laurels spring, and the principal side, facing the road, bears the inscription, in French, "Here the invader was driven back, 1918." This first commemorative stone was inaugurated at Chateau Thierry, by a representative of the ministry of war, in the presence of the military attaches of all allied countries.

The Harvest Moon.

The harvest moon is the one on or nearest to the 21st of September, harvest time. When nearly full it rises for several consecutive nights at about the same hour. A poetical playwright points out that it is a kindly arrangement of the Creator for the benefit of lovers. There is at that time a small angle between the moon's orbit and the horizon which causes this complaisance on the part of the queen of the night.

Spanish Licorice Industry.

The manufacture of licorice extract and paste is an important Spanish industry. This is a comparatively new industry, as formerly the root was exported manufactured. Over 6,000,000 pounds of the root were exported in 1918 and more than 600,000 pounds of extract and paste.—Brooklyn Eagle.

ASKS EX-KING TO PAY

Woman Claims William of Wied Owes Her 5,000,000 Francs.

Mrs. Roberta Menges Corwin Hill Tearle, Formerly of Brooklyn, Asks the State Department to Help Her Collect—Has No I. O. U.

New York.—Lending money to kings—a "privilege" which doesn't fall to the lot of everyone—is an experience which Mrs. Roberta Menges Corwin Hill Tearle, formerly of Brooklyn but lately of Paris, declares is exciting but not altogether profitable.

She arrived recently from Paris bent upon visiting the State department to see what the Washington officials could do to aid her in collecting 5,000,000 francs which she claims to have advanced Prince William of Wied, who occupied the throne of Albania for seven months before the outbreak of the war forced him to flee.

Mrs. Menges, who was known as "the Pearl of Sheepshead Bay" before she eloped in 1902 with Young Halsey Corwin, a Brooklyn millionaire, is accompanied by her sister, Miss Ruth Menges, and her cousin, Capt. J. E. K. Jackson, upon whom she relies to substantiate her claim against Prince William.

Captain Jackson explained that Mrs. Menges was introduced to the king of Albania at Monte Carlo in 1913 by King Constantine of Greece, whom she was entertaining at her villa there. She had met King Constantine through Prince de Lynan, formerly a member of the Austrian embassy at Washington, to whom she had been introduced by her husband, Maj. Arthur Hill of England.

"Prince William renewed his acquaintance with Mrs. Menges at the Hotel Continental in Paris," said Captain Jackson, "and borrowed 500,000 francs from her then."

"Don't think me too easy," broke in Mrs. Menges. "You see, he watched me win 60,000 francs gambling at Monte Carlo, and living in a big villa there, and all that sort of thing, and he thought I had millions to burn.

"He promised to pay it all in a year," Captain Jackson added. "He also promised to make Mrs. Menges the unofficial ambassador of Albania at Paris, and said he would help her enlist the aid of continental police in finding jewels she lost in America."

"Have you a receipt from Prince William?" Mrs. Menges was asked.

"You can't ask a king for an I. O. U.; you know that," she replied.

Head or Tail.

Do you know it is possible to tell whether a spinning coin will land head or tail? Before spinning the coin make a small nick at one of the edges, so that a tiny point of metal protrudes. Suppose the nick has been cut on the edge of the head side. If the coin is spun it will settle down gradually in the ordinary way if the notched side is upward, but should it be underneath, the notch will make a sound as it strikes the table and the coin will settle down quickly.—Tit-Bits.

LATEST VICINITY NOTES

Recent Matters of Current Interest in Central New York.

Miss Mildred Hepburn, a member of the faculty of the Deposit High school, receives a legacy of $5,000 from the estate of her uncle, A. Barton Hepburn, the New York financier. The St. Lawrence university at Canton is also a beneficiary, receiving $100,000.

Fleischmanns, Delaware county, will have five fruit stores during the summer season of 1922. If fruit is as healthy as physicians claim, Fleischmanns' eight hundred residents should thrive.

Cherry Valley village trustees have taken up with the state road contractor the question of having the macadam extended on Main street from curb to curb. The matter will probably be submitted to the taxpayers.

Norwich and Walton have just organized taxpayers' associations with large memberships for the avowed purpose of studying local conditions in their respective communities with the view of curtailing, if possible, their expenses without crippling progress.

The promoters of the Community Service fund in Binghamton are within $4,500 of the goal of $60,000 which they had set for themselves.

Since the beginning of the movement for the reforestation of idle land seven new forests with a total of 16,000 trees have been planted in Schoharie county. The planting in Schoharie is in striking contrast with that in Otsego, where over 1,100,000 trees have been set out.

A series of evangelical services are being held this week and next in the Methodist Episcopal church at Worcester. The services are in charge of Evangelist and Mrs. E. F. Vanhorne.

An appropriation of $480,000 for the purchase of barracks for the state police at Troy, Batavia, Malone, Sidney and Oneida is sought in bills introduced in the legislature Tuesday by Senator W. T. Thayer, of Franklin, and Assemblyman C. P. Miller, of Genesee.

"Old Noll."

"Old Noll" was a term of contempt applied to Oliver Cromwell by his contemporaries. "Nay, Old Noll, whose bones were dug up and hung in chains here at home, has not he, too, got to be a very respectable grim bronze figure, of whom England seems proud rather than otherwise?"—Thomas Carlyle.

When Death Cancels Debt

You will have noticed in many of the newspapers the advertisements of dealers in bonds offering them for sale to the public on the installment plan. Some of them are excellent investments and some are not.

Will any of these dealers cancel the unpaid installments if you die and hand over the bonds? They will not.

Will they cancel the unpaid installments and pay you an income for life in addition if you suffer permanent disability? They will not.

Will they guarantee that the value of the bonds will increase in value; will they even guarantee that they will not depreciate? They would laugh at the suggestion and think you simple. But Life Insurance will.
